Six candidates are presented – Paula Griffin, Greg Rogers, David Bradley, Lisa Toepel, Mitch Hodges, and Daniel Popp.

Paula Griffin: Paula has served for the last 3 years, and decided to run for another term. Paula has several children playing in WA Youth Soccer, allowing her to bring the added element of a parent’s perspective to the Board.

Greg Rogers: Greg wants to give back to the WA Youth Soccer community. He wishes to represent the parents and players of different levels of soccer. He understands the importance of competition, while recognizing that there is a big need for positive, fun, life-improving soccer.

David Bradley: David is a Newcastle native, played semi-professional soccer in England, and believes in the importance of life lessons learned from the game of soccer. He has played, coached, and been a soccer parent, and now wants to be a part of the administrative side.

Lisa Toepel: Statement read by Daren Mancini on behalf of Lisa – “Lisa is a Pacific Northwest native, and believes that youth soccer is an important aspect of youth development. Her kids have played in many different levels, and now play at the top level, so she understands soccer. She has experience with business, technology, and world issues, and wants to incorporate her experience and connections to drive soccer forward.”

Mitch Hodges: Mitch is a Mexico City native and has spent many years writing for the Seattle Sounders FC. He has experience in the management of call centers, the breathalyzer industry, and in business.

Daniel Popp: Dan has 5 kids that played soccer, which is how he got involved in coaching soccer – he now understands the difficulty and complexity of youth sports leagues. He is a publicly elected school board leader and he wishes to do more. Dan hopes to improve WA Youth Soccer by improving diversity and inclusion.
